

Elicit, Provide, Elicit demonstration

Keith Birrell, Prem Mathiazhagan and Iram Ansari give you examples, from across the GP curriculum, of how you might elicit what a patient wants, or needs, to know. We give some examples of how that information might be provided. We use the elicit, provide, elicit model. This demonstration provides you with lots of knowledge from across the curriculum, and this knowledge is applied in a skilful way. These skills and knowledge will help you do do your job in the consulting room, and the exam room, better.